Being receptive and able to react to today's happenings aroused a combination of meaningful moods throughout the year 1970-71. Contemplation, pondering, and involving oneself in deep thoughts was an apparent mood. Throughout each day students would reflect upon past experiences in hope of formulating wise decisions in place of whims. With the agitation and stirring of feelings, excitement was an important factor. The anticipation of reaching a goal or an unexpected victory such as becoming a star on Hart's stage or winning a scholarship resulted in Excitement. The simple blissful feeling of being lifted to the heights of satisfaction in success was the explanation of the mood, Happiness. The formula combining all three of these moods fulfilled each and every day throughout this year at Hart High.

A Week to Get Back Together

Right: Chip Chavez greets Holly Clow with a welcome-back bite of his ice cream. Below: The general mood of Hello Week was a relaxed contentment, at being back.

Hello Week set the mood for student life. As friends gathered and new teachers were introduced that first week, a feeling of friendliness intermingled with the excitement and curiosity of the new school year caught the student body unawares. The first week brought sports into focus as the 1971 football team was introduced on "Meet the Team" night. From then on, spirit ascended both for the players on the field and those in the stands.

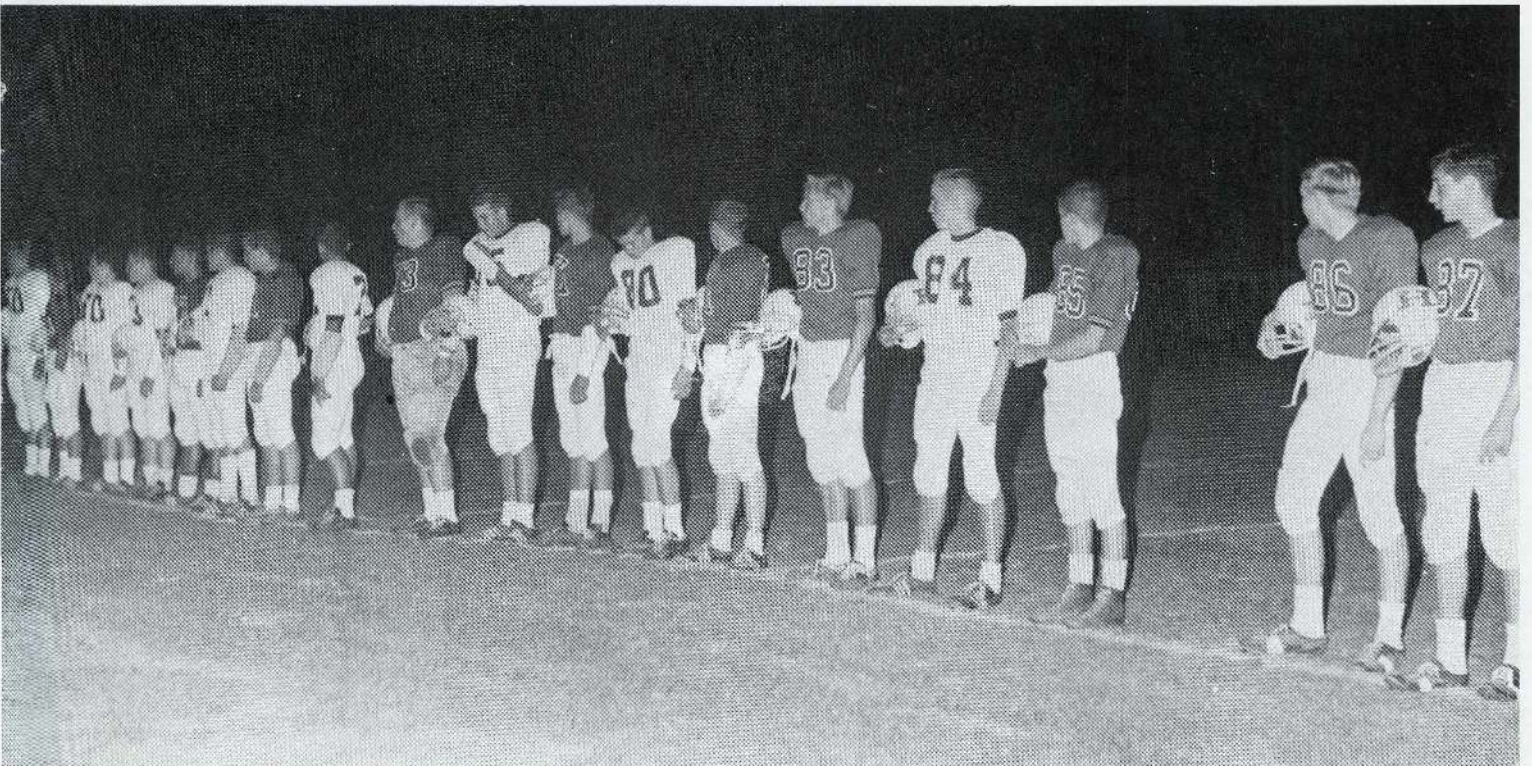

Throughout the year, student activities, such as the Sociology class' winter skit, increased spirit while at the same time, exemplified typical days.

Left: Joel Henson and Lisa Herran minister to Robin Hanson, a "dead" Canyon Cowboy, Precision Drill Team made its great debut during another of the rallies. As with each year, pep activities increased. Each week the skits were unique and the spirit genuine. Pep rallies were held nearly every Friday in hopes of boosting our team's morale and encouraging support from everyone to push them on to success.

Believing Victory Made This a Memorable Evening for All

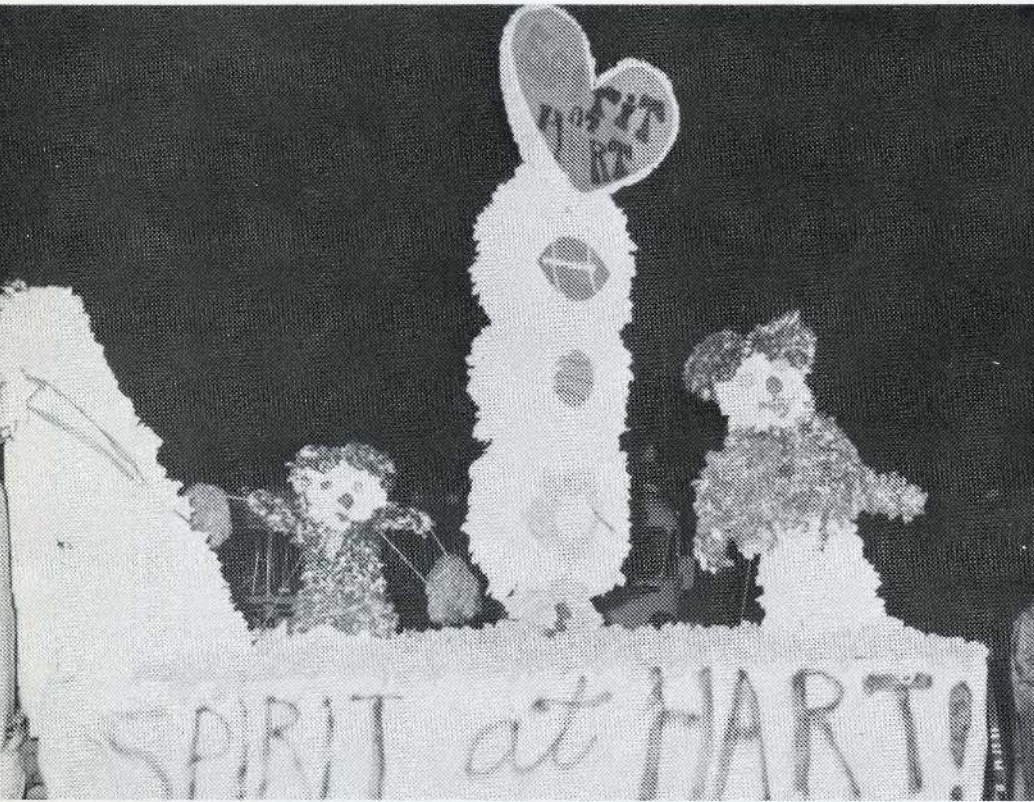

The night of the traditional homecoming finally arrived after weeks of endless preparations. Activity and enthusiasm was aroused not only in the selection of queen candidates, but also in construction of class competition floats, and planning of a half-time show that would be remembered for years to come. While the pre-game parade toured around the track, the senior and sophomore students hid their faces in shame as the announcer awarded first place to the class of 1972.

The team showed their pride and ability by bringing home a victory of 36-6. The superior action on the part of the team made a success of homecoming.

Main Highlights of the Year

That memorable procession began on that long awaited night of October 23. The five queen finalists rode around the track accompanied by their escorts to the awe of all on-lookers. These girls, Becky Blakey, Lisa Cole, Donna Cooksey, Polly Small, and Nena Fairbanks, were selected by the student body through the House of Representatives. With approach of half-time, spectators watched with anticipation as the royal court walked toward the crowd. The excitement grew as the crown was placed upon the 1970 homecoming queen, Miss Nena Fairbanks. After receiving her cape and roses, Nena presided over a victorious game.

Natural Phenomenon

Nature's Antics Really Kept Hart Moving!!

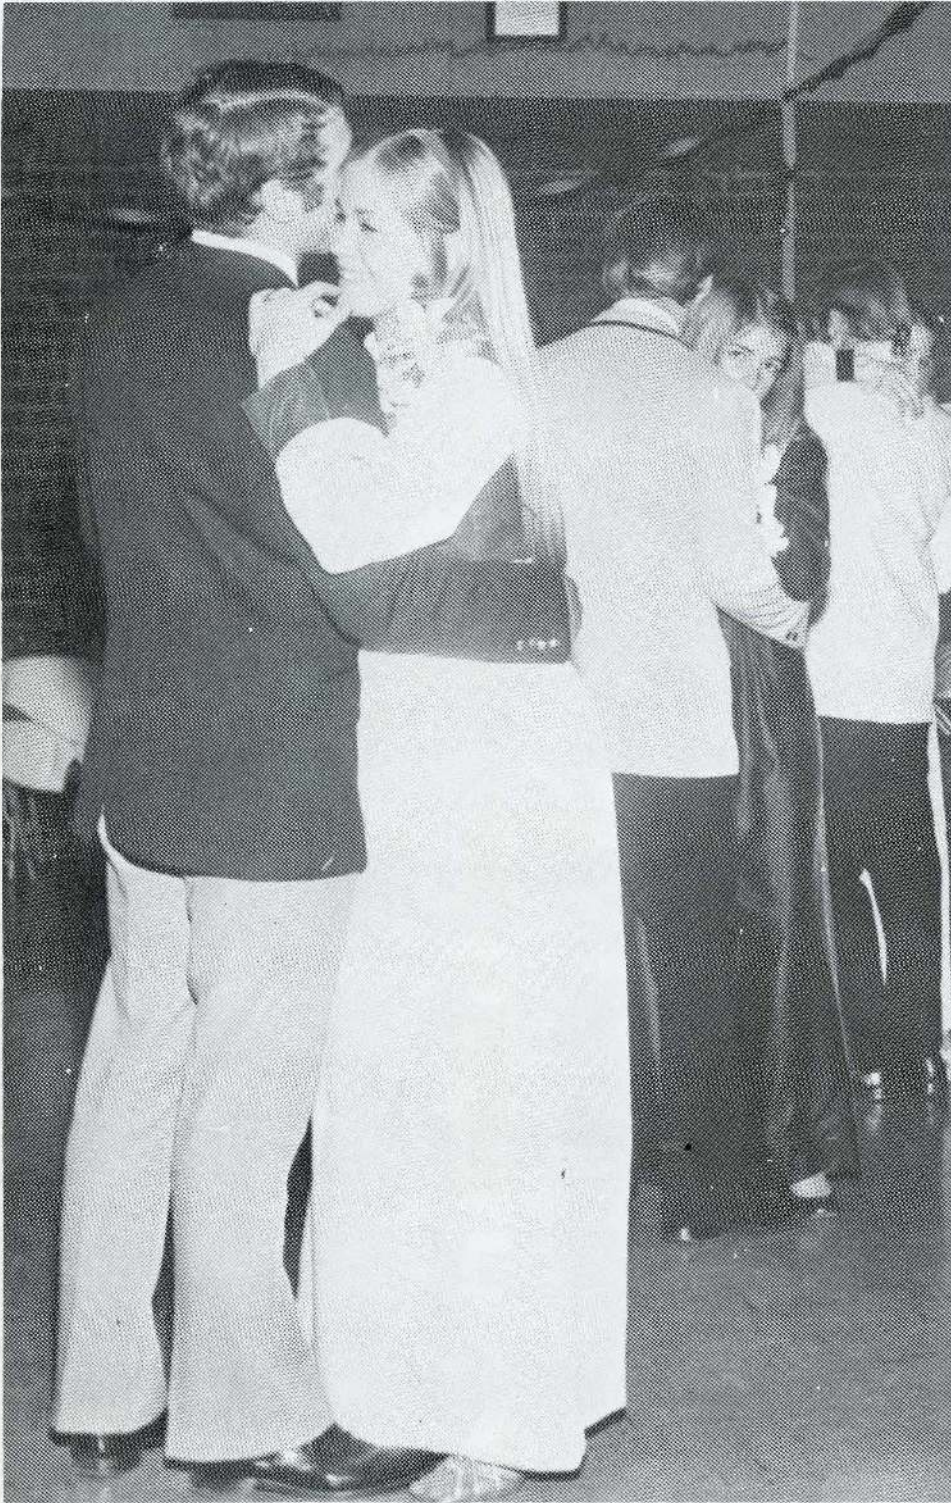

Whether it was a major catastrophe or a phenomenon of nature, emotions of amazement were apparent. For many it was watching their first snowfall or the erection of an abominable snowman that filled the Yuletide season with joy. The earth shattering quake brought destruction to Hart and the entire community. The ties between people were drawn closer together as we united to pull through this crisis.

Left: Mr. Henson, Biology teacher, and Mr. Dundon, who teaches chemistry, survey the wreckage of the chemistry lab and try to salvage something from the mess. The biology and chemistry labs suffered more than any other area of Hart in the quake. Below: The Senior lawn was covered with glory when the Christmas vacation brought snow.

A Winter's Dream Comes True

None of the possible preparations that the Girls League combined to sponsor the annual winter formal could have surpassed the phenomenon of the snow covered surroundings. The primary task to be accomplished was the selection of the Royal Court. On the night of December 19, with the crowning of King and Queen it was revealed that Cheri Brady and Chuck Cesena would reign over "A Winter's Dream."

Drama

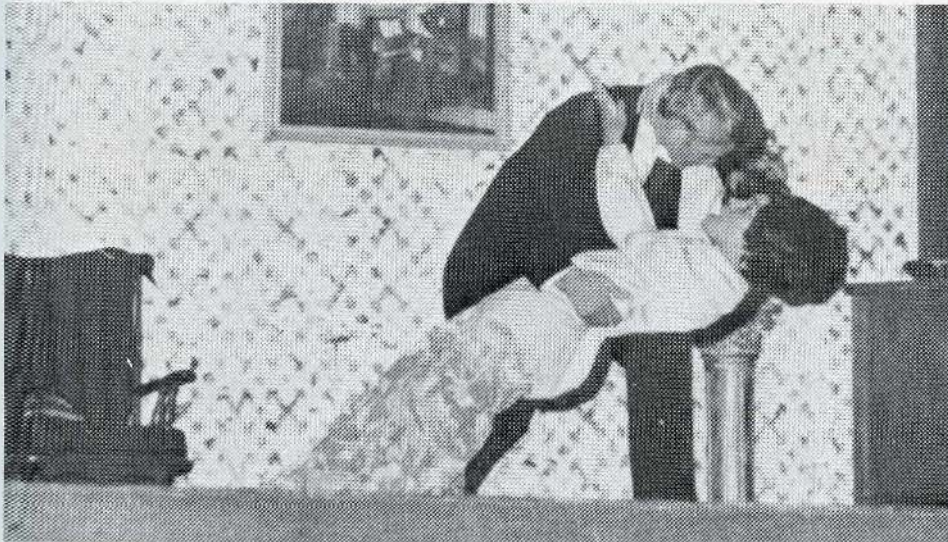

They Delved Into Our Deeply Buried Secrets.

The lights are out, the audience is silent. Suddenly the spotlight hits the stage and those sensational mindreaders, The Great Sebastians, appear! Amid stormy applause Rudy Sebastian descends into the audience and, with his blindfolded wife gives a superbly mystifying performance. The people are filled with wonder as Madam Sebastian unerringly identifies each borrowed item from purses and pockets of the audience. Later in their dressing room the Sebastians are invited to dinner at the house of a very prominent Czech general. While at the house they are seized and held for interrogation. Their escape is brilliantly executed and the play ends in a grand style.

Steve Spencer and Mikki Fox were magnificent as the Great Sebastians. The entire cast performed in a truly excellent manner. Mr. Seely was quite enthusiastic over the great success of the show and was filled with praise both for the cast members and for the hardworking crew. Daily rehearsals after school and sometimes at night plus painstaking work with costumes, lighting and make-up were responsible for the play's overwhelming success.

Opposite: Steve Spencer and Mikki Fox enter and take their bows as the Great Sebastians. Top: Chuck Cultrera as a theatre manager pleads with Steve and Mikki to be more careful with their money. Left: Steve sweeps Mikki off her feet triumphantly after discovering a plan of escape. Below: Steve and Mikki read the minds of Anne Wharton and Jim Chamberlain while Dustin Miller who played a Czech general watches them suspiciously.

Seventy-six trombones led the way to the success in Hart High's production of The Music Man. A cast of one hundred and twenty-five combined their enthusiastic talents in the fields of singing, dancing, and acting. The result of months of long hard rehearsals was revealed on April 30, May 1, 7, and 8 as The Music Man opened its doors to entertain the entire community. This all-time Broadway success starred none other than Hart's own Mike Zima as Professor Harold Hill and Helen Hiebert in the female lead of Marion. Special thanks are given to Mr. Babko, Mr. Murdock, Mrs. Ramos, Mr. Seely, and Mr. Thornton, the faculty who eagerly involved themselves.

Each month Girls League representatives nominated a list of girls apropos to the title. This list was then given to the female population to determine the finalists. Chosen for their feminine qualities, these girls displayed grace, poise, dependability, charming personalities, and their ability to associate with people in all situations.

Out of the ten Girls of the Month Hart's faculty chose one whom they felt possessed all of these charming qualities. Hart's 1971 Girl of the Year was Miss Joyce Dixon. Along with these outstanding traits Joyce held the respect and admiration of her fellow peers through her various activities of which she was always a leader.

Varsity Football

Our Marmonte League Warriors

Led by the best defensive team in many years, Hart's Varsity Indians ended the football season with an excellent record of 6 wins and 3 losses in the recently-formed Marmonte League. Membership in the Marmonte League gave Hart High AAA status for the first time. The competition was tougher; we didn't take the championship but acquitted ourselves honorably anyway.

Throughout the season the defense was the all important factor in Hart's victories. Only 3 times did the team falter, and those 3 losses cost the games—the only 3 losses of the season. The great defense, under the leadership of Mike Smith, in nine games allowed only 45 points to its opponents, an average of 5.0 points per game. They held their opponents to 543 passing yards and 640 rushing yards.

This year's offense, scoring 120 points during their nine games, with Ron Stewart as the leading scorer, also did their part for the Varsity team.

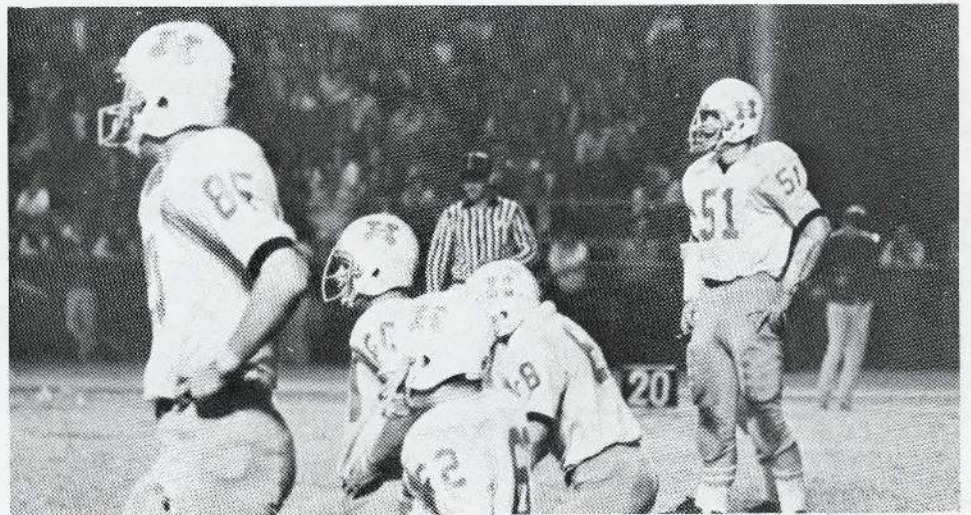

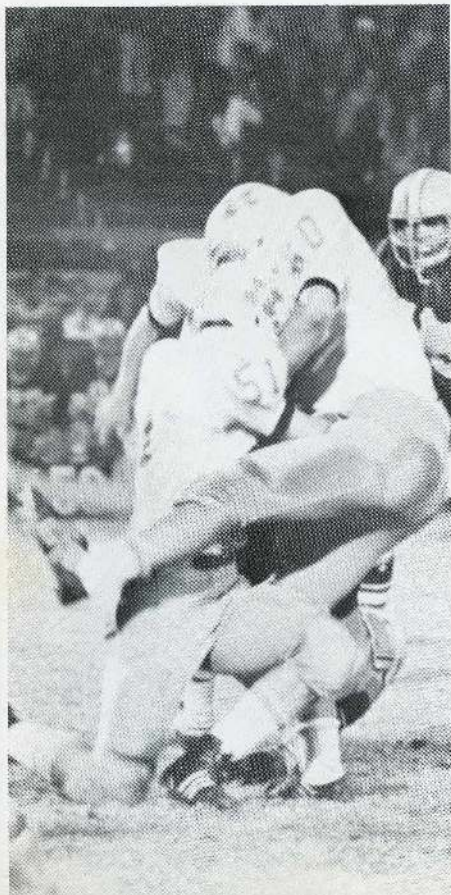

The following players received awards for their play during the year: Most Valuable—Mike Smith, Most Improved—Bruce Harper, Most Inspirational—Ray Festa, Most Outstanding Offensive Back—Tom Edwards, Most Outstanding Defensive Back—Steve West, Outstanding Defensive Lineman—Steve Toney, Outstanding Offensive Lineman—Nik Kadel, and the Quarterback Club Award—Lorin Neeley.

They Were Small and Tough, But Big Enough

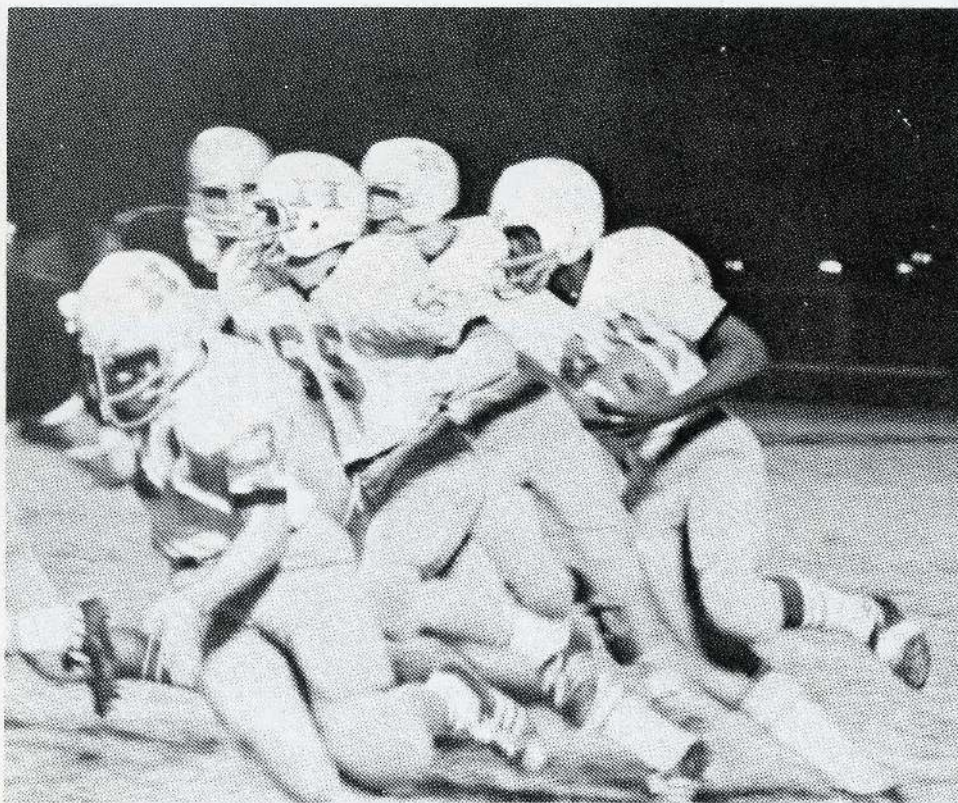

On this year's All-League teams, Hart placed 5 on the first team and 5 on the second team. First team selections were: Nik Kadel—Center, Ron Stewart Wide Receiver, Steve Toney—Guard, Stan Toney—End, and Mike Smith—Line Backer. The second All-League team consisted of: Rod Sherry, Tom Jack, Tim Williams, Chuck Cesena, and Steve West.

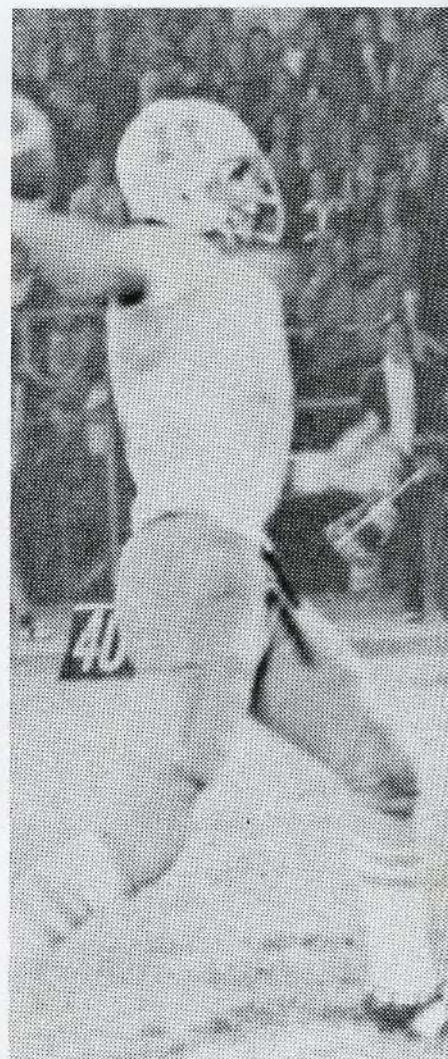

When the All-Valley teams were chosen, one of our own stalwarts was named to the second team. Steve Toney, after a great season on the defensive unit, deservedly received this honor and once again brought glory to our beloved Hart High School. And even though some of the others weren't selected for special recognition they also deserved an accolade for their tremendous efforts alongside of Steve.

At the end of the grueling season Coach Wendt stated, "I feel that this year's team impressed me because they were expected to have a losing season by many people, but they had the pride and desire to win game after game. They impressed me most because they are great people and are about to be great citizens and leaders in our land."

Having one of their finest seasons, the Hart Junior High Varsity Football Team had a record of 8 and 1, which included losing only one league game, and placing second in league standings. This was the squad's first year in the Maramonte League and they went in with the attitude of winning. This year's team had good size and mobility.

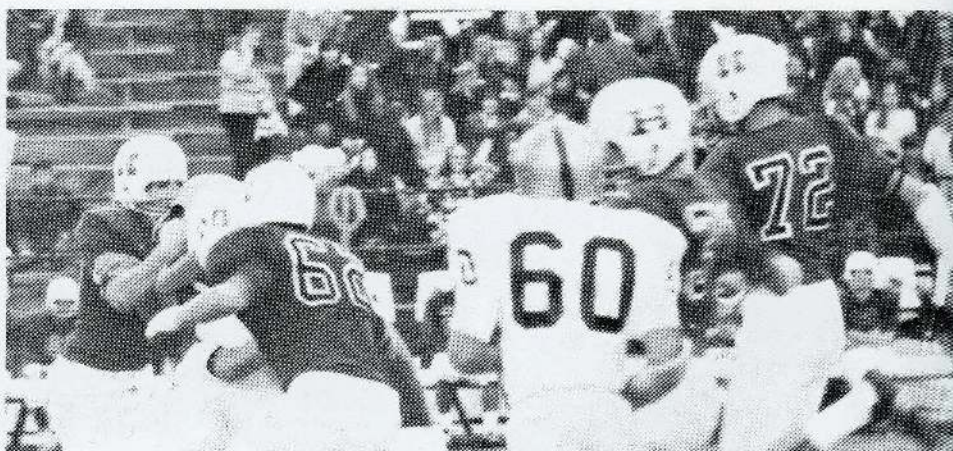

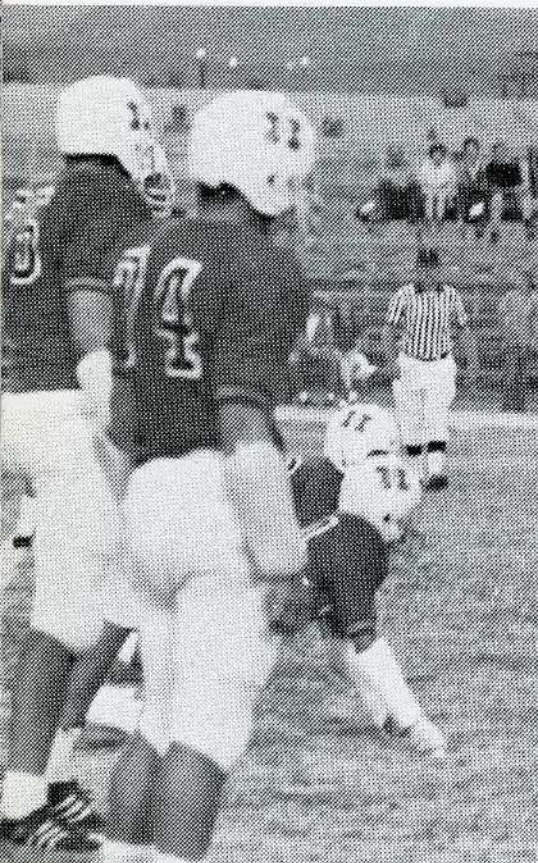

Co-Captain Jim Maggiore showed great ability as the team's outstanding lineman. Tom Lager not only led the team in total points but proved to be an outstanding back and the most inspirational player. Scoring the second highest total offensive points, Chris Jackman also earned the most valuable player award. Gerhard Wittl (determined to play to the best of his ability) played first team at center, where he earned most improved player. The player that was selected to best exemplify the true character of a football player both on and off the field was Brian Johnson. These are just a few of the boys to be commended for their hard work and desire.

The whole team received the backing and spirit of the Hart fans this year.

The boys could never have gone as far as they did without the many long hours of hard work and devotion by the coaches, Allen Weil and Dennis Ford.

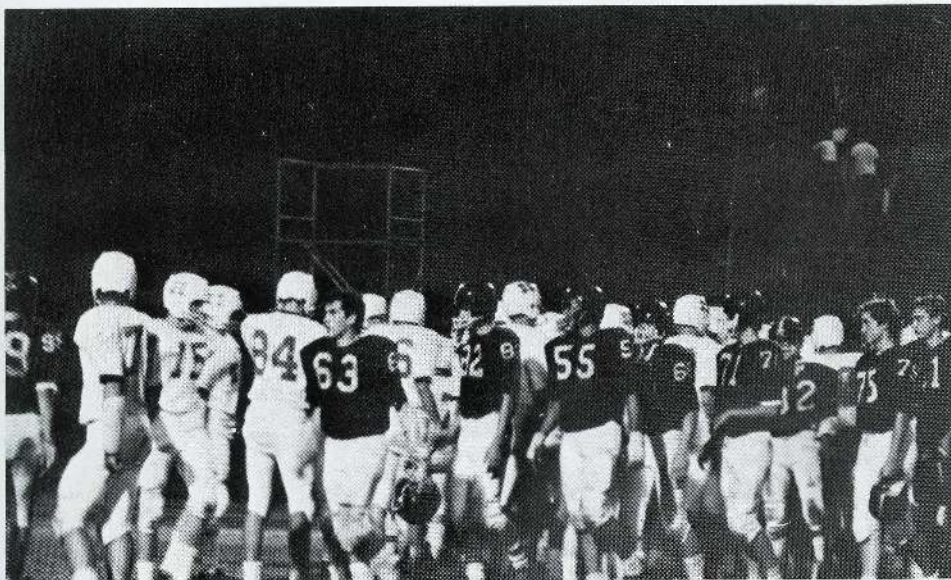

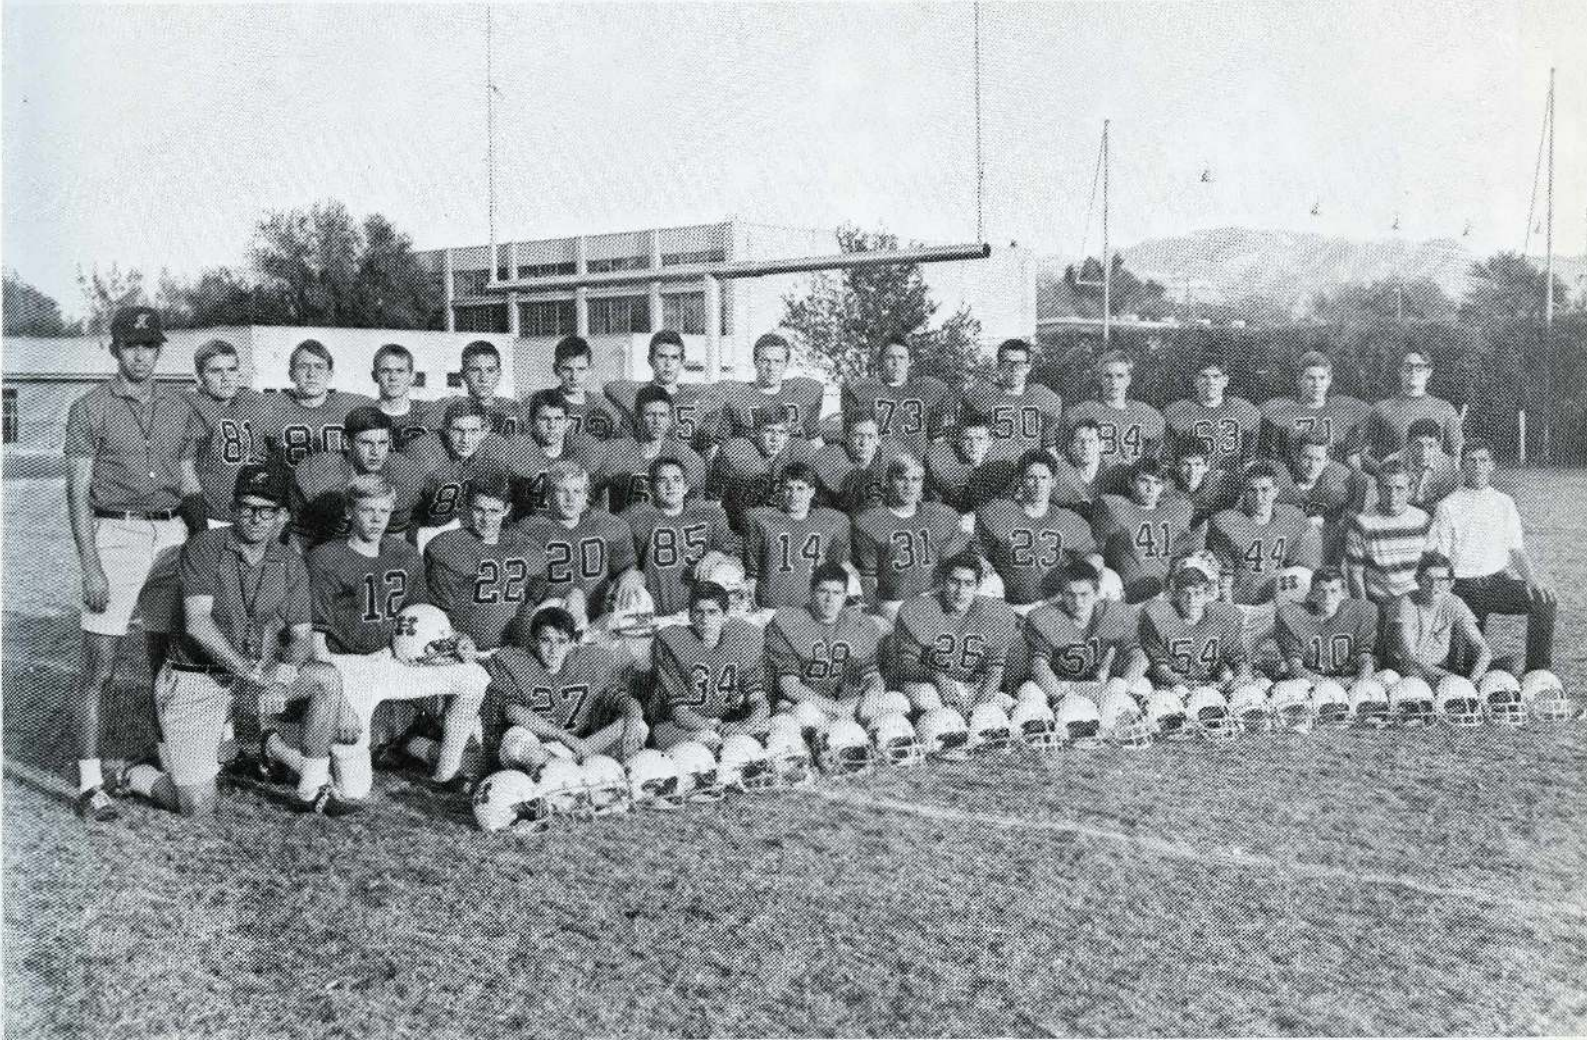

They were truly the pride of Hart.

Cross-Country

Hart High's Heroic Harriers

Hart's Cross Country team, always outnumbered, but never outfought, worked hard all season against overwhelming odds. Sportsmanship prevailed, even though the team only won a few meets. Hart students should be proud of the way in which these runners struggled for Hart High School.

The Cross Country team was inspired by such fine runners as: Bob Howell, Keith Lusk, and Ray Kutyllo on Varsity, and Randy Lusk and Don Filteau on Junior Varsity. The bright spot in the lackluster season came as Hart defeated Canyon. This was sweet victory!

With the Junior Varsity runners of this year and the returning members of the Varsity team, the squad next year should be well-balanced and able. A better turnout of runners and more support from the students, should make a successful combination for Hart.

Coach Worley tried very hard to use the team running technique during the season and it was successful. To a degree without too much reward and praise, our runners gained great satisfaction in knowing that their efforts got school wide recognition. The team upheld the traditions of Hart.

Varsity Basketball

Our Basketball Team Fought Insurmountable Odds All Year

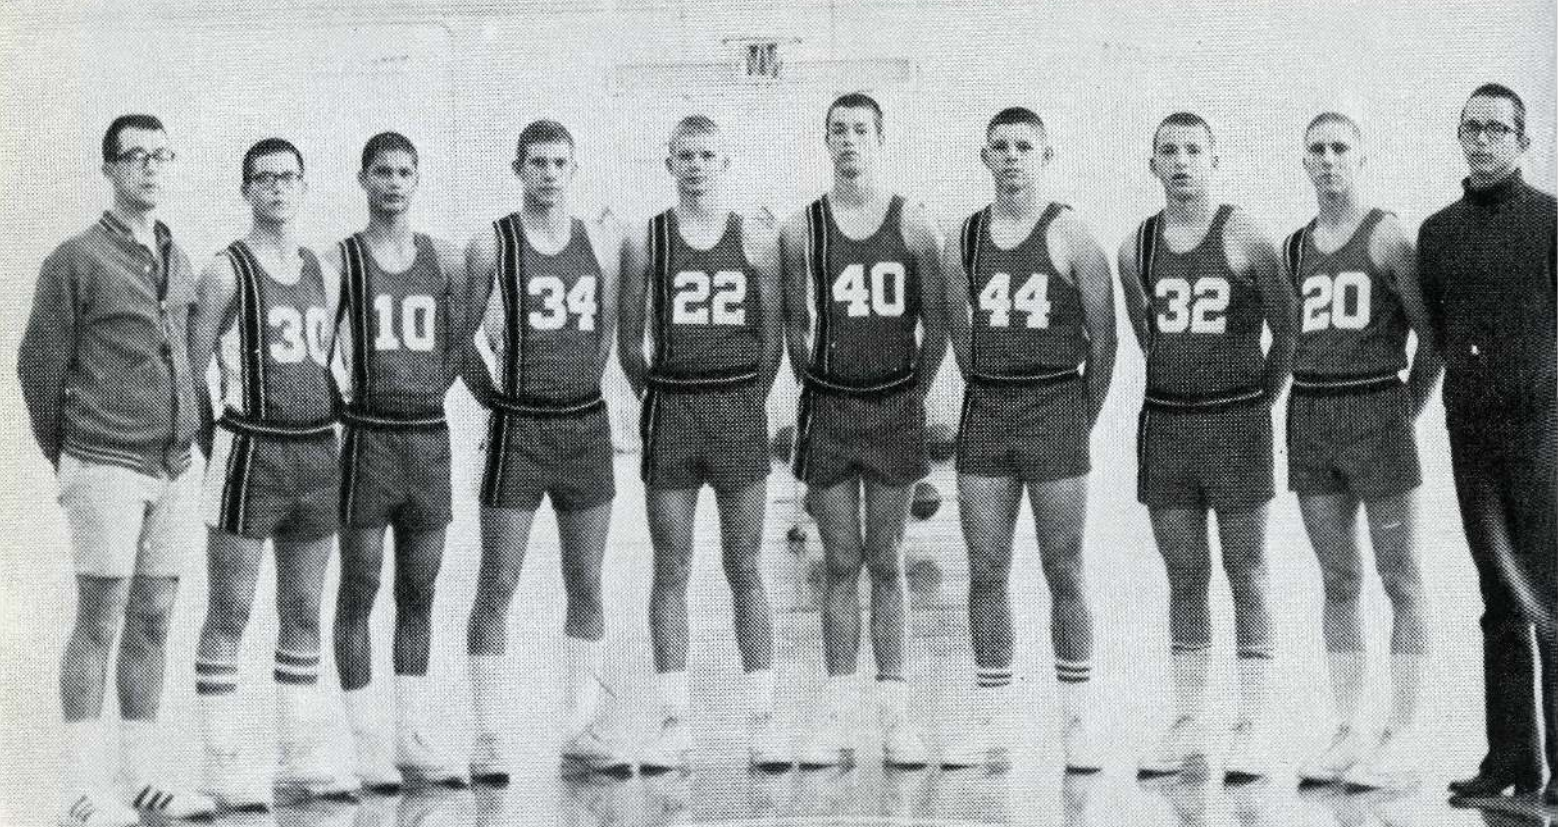

Coach Fran Wrage welcomed 2 veteran managers back from the championship team of '70. Ten young hard-nosed players made up the nucleus of the '70-'71 Indians. Injuries and inexperience plagued the team but rarely disheartened this band of rugged warriors. Defense became their forte and even though the final record was 11-12, they outscored their opponents 1412-1334.

Season highlights included a second place finish at the Quartz Hill tourney, twin wins over hometown rival Canyon and the crushing defeat of the Marmonte League co-champs Newbury Park in the season finale, 57-32. This victory typified the "Big Red Country" style of discipline and their hustling defense. Although this year's team was outsized in almost every encounter, they out-rebounded their opponents in the overall season totals.

The Junior Varsity, "B", and "C" teams with a majority coming directly from junior high, are given a chance to grow with each other through basketball. One of the main purposes of these teams was to enable the players to learn and develop more fully those all-important skills that will enable them to participate in varsity basketball. Even though each player on the court is vital to the outcome of the game the Junior Varsity voted Steve Nembach "Most Valuable." On the "B" team it was Mark Wilder, and Rand Patten was chosen as "Most Valuable" on the "C" team. These teams all had inspiring defense. Even though they did not take the league, they never lessened their quality of hustling which always gave the opponents a work out! All Hart Coaches agreed that these were great teams.

Looking forward to their fifth year in winning the league title was the Hart Indian Golf Team of 1971. With a "hole in one" the golfers went to each tournament in the hope of remaining undefeated in the Maramonte League. Outstanding golfers included: Scott Allensworth, Bill Carpenter, Craig Douglas, Jim Chamberlin and also Bruce Stanton. The group along with the others practiced through the season, combining coordination, skills, and knowledge. As each golfer "teed off" he had to remember that he was almost independently representing Hart.

As the tennis season at Hart began, Coach Lines was provided with an excellent group of players. Making up the majority of potential tennis pros was the sophomore class. This will set a good basis for next year. Through long enduring practices, the skills and ability of such number one players as Stan Arnold became apparent. Along with Stan were also Greg Huntsinger, Scott Anderson, Mark Spykerman, Howard Shapiro, and Pete Beckman. So throughout the year as each person set up his serve to start the match, he could always be confident of his fellow Indian's ability in returning the play.

Swimming

They Had Different Strokes for Different Swimmers

The Hart High swimmers were filled with moods of wonder and contemplation as insurmountable odds united against them. An act of the County, followed by an act of God, took away the one needed element in a swim team: that is the pool. With nothing else as an alternative, Hart swimmers splashed and dived in the rival's pool, Canyon. Slowly the number of swimmers lessened, but there were always those who held the Hart pride and spirit and sank their opponents to the deepest fathoms including Canyon. The entire team under Coach Hiller's direction, proved outstanding in bearing the unbearable throughout the year's season.

No one gave much for Hart's chances in wrestling this year. The wrestlers had not only to face tough opponents but also other seemingly insurmountable odds. A major handicap which they were able to overcome this year was the absence of Varsity Lettermen. However, they are anticipating having second year but first rate wrestlers in 1972. They came through with a victory over Canyon and a runaway first in the Novice League Tournament. Hart wrestling was back in gear, high gear. Maybe they were not going to tear up the league, but they made certain the pressure was felt. Everywhere they pleased crowds with tough aggressive wrestling. No one was able to beat them on their feet, which is by far the most difficult aspect of wrestling to learn.

The Hart mat men of 1971 also came away with third in the league, fifth in the Quartz Hill J.V. Tournament, and fourth in the Ventura Varsity Tournament and in the League Tournament. A wrestler is unique from any other athlete. Whereas most other athletes participate in team sports, a wrestler is alone—one on one—with his opponent. He must not only compete against the other wrestler but against himself as well. He prepares himself for these battles through diligent practice . . . practices which not only comprise the learning of skills, which must be applied with strong, swift, split-second accuracy, but also in conditioning. Through all his physical pain and mental strain the wrestler still has the initiative, drive, and will to succeed!

The "spikes" were off and running as the 1971 track team pushed off from the starting block. After weeks and weeks of conditioning their muscles, in order to meet the superiority of Hart's standards, the team was ready to compete. The result of all the hard work and determination was a combination of excellent performances in each event. Under the leadership of Coaches Hendricks, Weil, and Wendt, the Varsity team produced some fine marks and times. The specialty of Hart's Varsity Track team was performance, which they did very well. From pole vaulting to running the quarter mile, endurance, desire and skill provided the inspiration that pushed each man on to every win.

This year the Varsity Baseball Team battled against high winds, cold weather and rough opponents. The whole team hung together and came through with flying colors. Their spirits remained high whether they were winning or losing. They accepted victory and defeat with equanimity. The coach, although he worked the team very hard, was still respected and loved by them all. He helped them learn from their mistakes as well as their victories. At the end of the season the team learned to work together as one instead of nine. The crowd stayed with them all the way, either huddled in blankets or basking in the sun.

J. V.'s Have Untapped Potential

Beginning its first season under the leadership of Coach Ford, Hart's Junior Varsity Baseball Team strove for better heights. Whether our squad played here on the Indian diamond or away on a foreign one they always slid home with impressive scores. These Indians featured a potent hitting attack with an accurate pitching staff at each and every inning. Next year, many members of this vigorous squad will move up and combine with the returning varsity fellows to form an all-powerful Indian Baseball Team.

The tournament consisted of three games in which the juniors won the first but were surpassed by the superiority of the seniors in the two that remained. Nik Kadel and Steve West should be given due credit for enduring each and every huddle which coached the seniors onto victory. After hours of tapping the ball over the net at the Palmdale Playday our girls' volleyball team placed 1st and 2nd. Striking down one bowling pin after another Sue French and Teri Fletcher took the highest scores. During track season girls united under Shirley Myers and formed Hart's first girl's track team. Then the girls slid into home with spring softball.

ASB Officers and Commissioners

Decision-Making Requires Great Skill: Our Officers are Qualified!

Combine a competent ASB President like Ray Kutyllo with a diligent, hard-working Executive Board and the final result is a united student body, many activities for the school and the administration, and harmony between all.

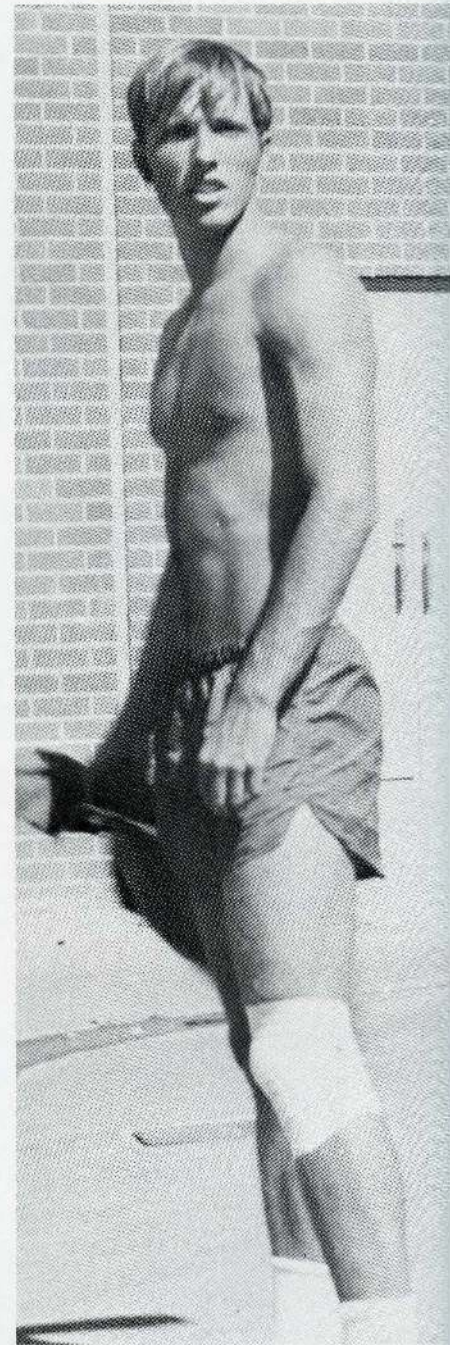

This year's activities sponsored by the ASB included a Winter Frolic, a Christmas Food Drive, exciting assemblies, and, of course, the traditional Homecoming in October and Sprolic in April, featuring fun for all.

Not only did the Executive Board promote goodwill at Hart, but this year they promoted harmony with Canyon High School. The Inter-Valley Student Council was formed with students at Canyon and Hart working together.

House of Representatives

Unity Through Representation Was Their Goal

President's Council this year consolidated the minds of all organizations presidents, and came up with the many ideas for our Spring Sprolic Carnival. Headed by Mike Simpson, Commissioner of Organizations, the Council met and discussed the plans and interests of every club so that they were kept well-informed and up to date on all activities throughout this year.

Subjects varied from Open Campus to Basketball Homecoming this year in the House of Representatives. All problems were heard by the elected members and were acted upon by the different committees organized by House Commissioner Chuck Cesena. Since the House is actually the link between students and administration, all resolutions were to affect the entire school.

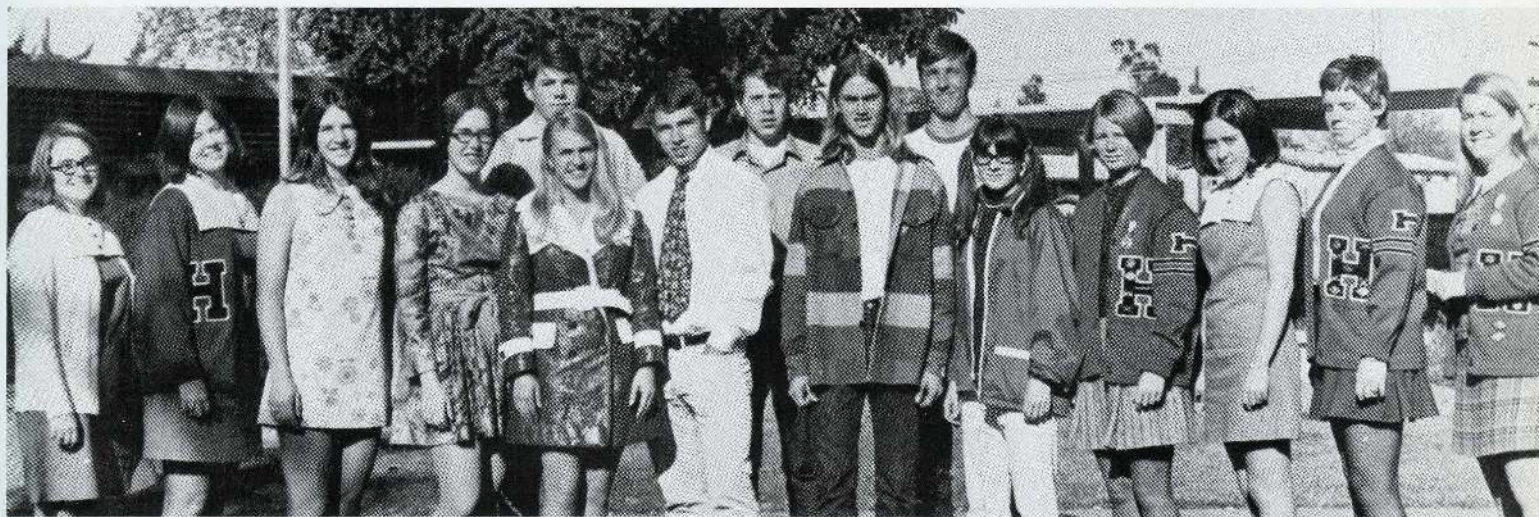

For Joyce Dixon and Ray Kutyllo, the past summer provided an excellent opportunity to observe and even enact simulated governmental procedures. Joyce and Ray attended the annual Girls and Boys State convention held at Davis and in Sacramento. The two as our representatives, met and discussed with other schools representatives, several serious state affairs.

Everyone's Emotions Captured in a Single Bind

Grinding labor anyone? Or do we toil? How about just plain hard work? The 26 members of this year's yearbook staff combined hard work, determination, heartaches, and creativity to make this issue of the 1971 Tomahawk possible for all to possess.

Work began at the close of the previous year when plans of ad sales and new annual ideas were formulated. Activity began on the first day of school and continued to the very end in order that our theme, "Moods, A Day and A Year at Hart," could truly be pictorialized. The staff, led by editor Marla Yaeh, and under the supervision of Mr. Franklin, toiled excruciatingly, trying to capture every mood and emotion shown by students and faculty on campus throughout the year.

As the year progressed, the term of "deadline" became well-known to that staff of 26. Labor, planning and confusion went into the completion of each section as that last day rapidly came. Then, if all the finished work and solved problems spelled success, the reward of a deadline party came.

Top: Revealing utter disbelief or "awe", assistant editor Chris Becker takes a peek at a few of the more stimulating negatives. Above: Kim Craigo concentrates on developing beautiful lay-outs from lines, pictures, and just plain old imagination. Opposite: The thinking three-some, comprised of Linda Grande, Steve Haskell, and Olivia Grande. Wm. S. Hart High School

Smoke

Signal

Current and informative, the Smoke Signal newspaper communicated news and views on campus. Unlike in past years, the newspaper was published biweekly.

Each issue contained such timely headlines as the pros and cons of an open campus or the inflationary ASB prices. There were also many amusing articles on "Joe and Jane Indian", "Heap of the Week", "The In Place to Cut", and some letters to the editor.

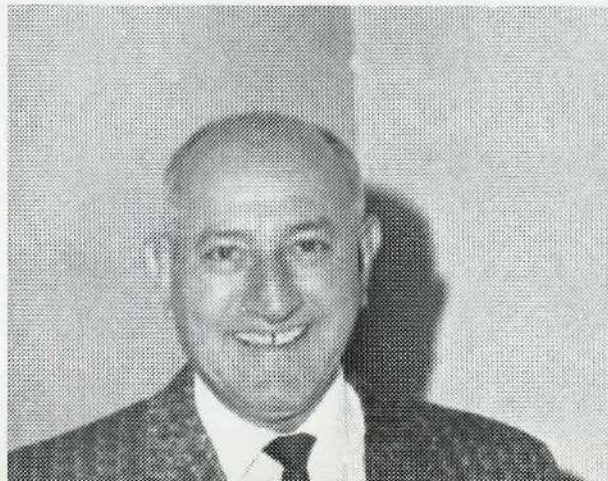

The staff members worked hard in their class to produce the sort of outstanding newspaper that everyone can enjoy. Under the editorship of Michele Allsup, the paper was a huge success with the students, becoming better and better with each issue.

Varsity Band

The Indians Marched Again—A Sight to See

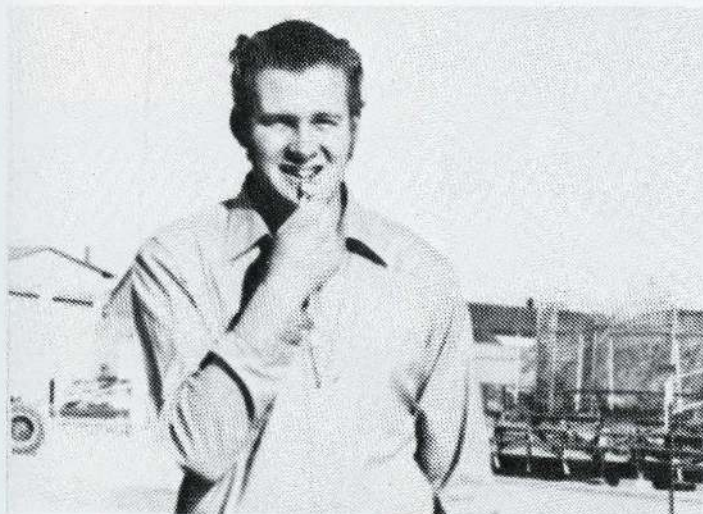

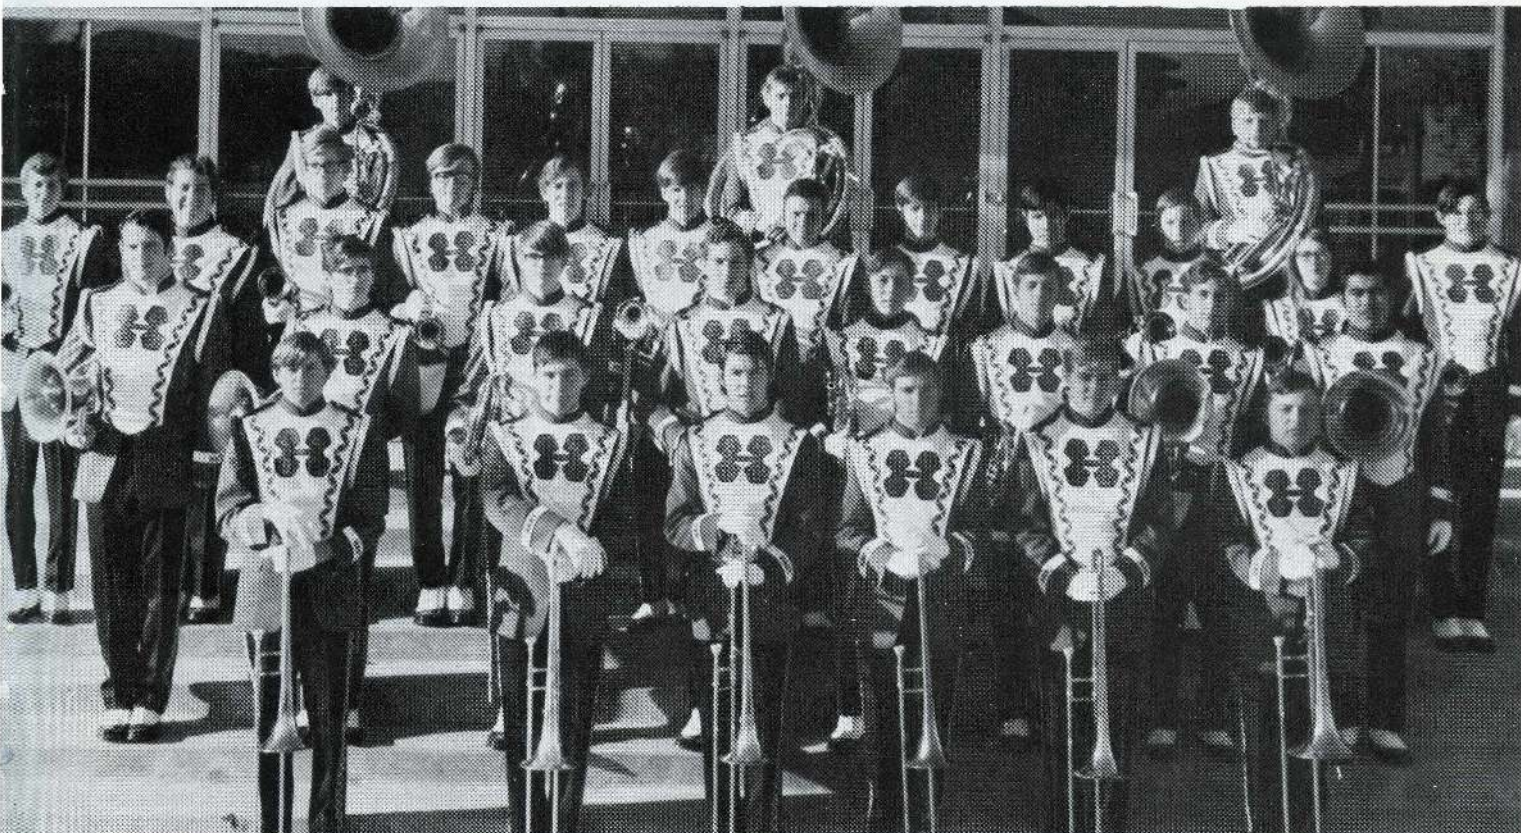

Complete alignment of all ranks and files was the ultimate goal of the Hart High Indian Marching Band at each halftime performance. This and much more was truly illustrated at the Hart vs. Canyon game when our band displayed their sharp new uniforms along with their exceptional marching and musical ability to the lively football fans who vigorously cheered them on.

The Holiday Seasons showed the band with high spirits at the Lancaster Christmas parade, our own Christmas parade through Newhall, and the traditional Christmas concert here at Hart. In the Spring the band changed their style of music from marching to concert in setting the mood of various audiences at civic ceremonies, festivals, concerts, and at the 1971 graduation.

Stage Band and Orchestra

Staging True

Each morning before school the select group of twenty-four jazz musicians, commonly called the Chieftain Stage Band, combined their instrumental skills. They entertained Hart students and people of the community at numerous assemblies, concerts, and dinners throughout the year. Together with the Vocal Ensemble, the Stage Band presented their second annual T.B.A. on December 2 and 3. This unique rock program was televised on our local station for others to view.

Orchestra was another fine group of instrumental musicians this year. In addition to the usual strings, there were also students playing brass and woodwind instruments. The highlight for this year's orchestra was their exceptional performance in playing for our "Music Man" production.

Majorettes

Talent Through Their Performances

Our four majorettes this year were Karen Plamondon, Pam Robson, Kim Self, and head Diane Hitchcock. As Karen and Diane returned from last year, Kim and Pam were new additions to the twirling squad. They were directed and assisted through the year by their new sponsor, Mrs. Ramos.

In the fall they united with the band and drill team at each half-time, parade, and half-time jamboree. On the night of Homecoming, encircled by the Indian band and drill team, our four twirlers lit the flames of excitement with their fiery batons. With spring competitions the girls were active.

Vocal Ensemble

Music Ability Plus Creativity Equals Outstanding Performances

Fourteen in-tune singers, commonly known as the Vocal Ensemble, were selected for their high quality of vocal sound. They combined music ability with creativity and presented it to a multitude of listeners. Performances throughout the year ranged from assemblies at the local junior high to out of town competitive musical festivals. Most memorable of all was T.B.A. (To Be Announced), a rock program in a night club setting, adopted from last year. After long tedious hours of practice, the Vocal Ensemble, accompanied by the grandeur of the Chieftain Stage Band, was able to iron out the flats and sharps that may have possibly crept in among all that fine musical talent. Then on December 2 and 3 the unification of the Chieftains and the Vocal Ensemble was exposed to the awaiting listeners. On those evenings, as the room became replete with anxious members of the community, lights were dimmed, strobes flashed, and on came the singers with such popular songs as: "Get Ready," "Stormy," "Traces," and "Vehicle." This and more was possible because of the efforts of advisor Mr. Babko and his diligent hard-working classes.

A variety of voices and ability were combined to form the concert choir and mixed chorus. Whether they were sopranos, altos, or tenors, their goal was to achieve harmony. Another goal was perfection in each performance in every festival, in which they were a contributing factor. Hard work, practice, and talent were indeed contributing factors to their singing success!

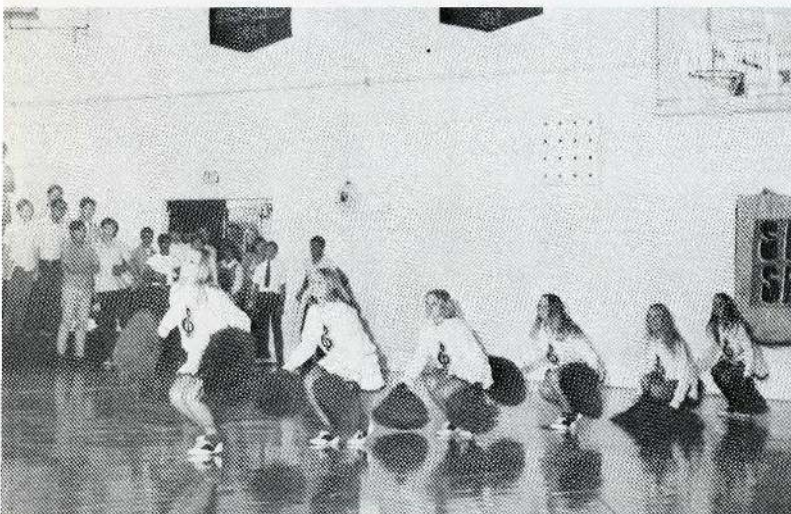

The students often discovered that just a single class period was not sufficient, as they found themselves spending many extra hours for performances.

Pep Squad

They've Got the Spirit and We Really Hear It!

Whether it was football, basketball, baseball games or any other athletic activity, our Varsity Cheerleaders and Songleaders were there. They promoted that all important spirit that encouraged Hart men over the goal line and on to making that winning basket, homerun, or scoring in any other sports meet. The emotion they aroused varied with each event. They displayed enthusiasm with victory and confidence in their teams' coordinated abilities.

These senior members of Hart's Pep Squad included Cheerleaders Becky Blakey, Patti Brady, Kim Craigo, Kathy McKinney, Ro Nocciolo, and Polly Small. The Songleaders consisted of: Dawn Cooksey, Nena Fairbanks, Kathy King, Pam Lorraine, Karen Williams and Faye Yingst.

Mascot

She Created Her Own Special Mood-Excitement!

The chief inspiration to many spirited students at Hart was mascot Cheri Brady. Cheri, being a senior, worked hard all year to bring enthusiasm to the student body and faculty, and to get them involved in spirit activities. Cheri, as Commissioner of Spirit, was in charge of all pep rallies and other morale-oriented activities this year.

Whether narrating a skit at a pep rally, leading cheers at varsity games, or selling candy as a member of the pep squad on candy Fridays, Cheri was a constant reminder of the verve here at Hart High. Cheri was always there to help lead our school in cheering our teams on to victory. Cheri made this year the most lively one ever.

J. V. Cheerleaders

J. V. Was Their Name, Spirit Was Their Game

In September with the beginning of the school year the search for the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders began. Swarms of girls put forth the effort to coordinate skills and spirit at the clinic. With a superfluous case of nerves these sophomores and juniors demonstrated their ability before a board of select judges. Those who demonstrated this feat went before the student body. The squad of four that were elected included Jana Frack, Debbie Hayes, Elba Mercado, and Val Nocciolo. These four promoted the mood of spirit among the enthusiastic sports fans who inspired the junior varsity teams on to victory at each athletic event throughout the 1970-71 year.

American Field Service

Growing and Learning Through Foreign Exchange

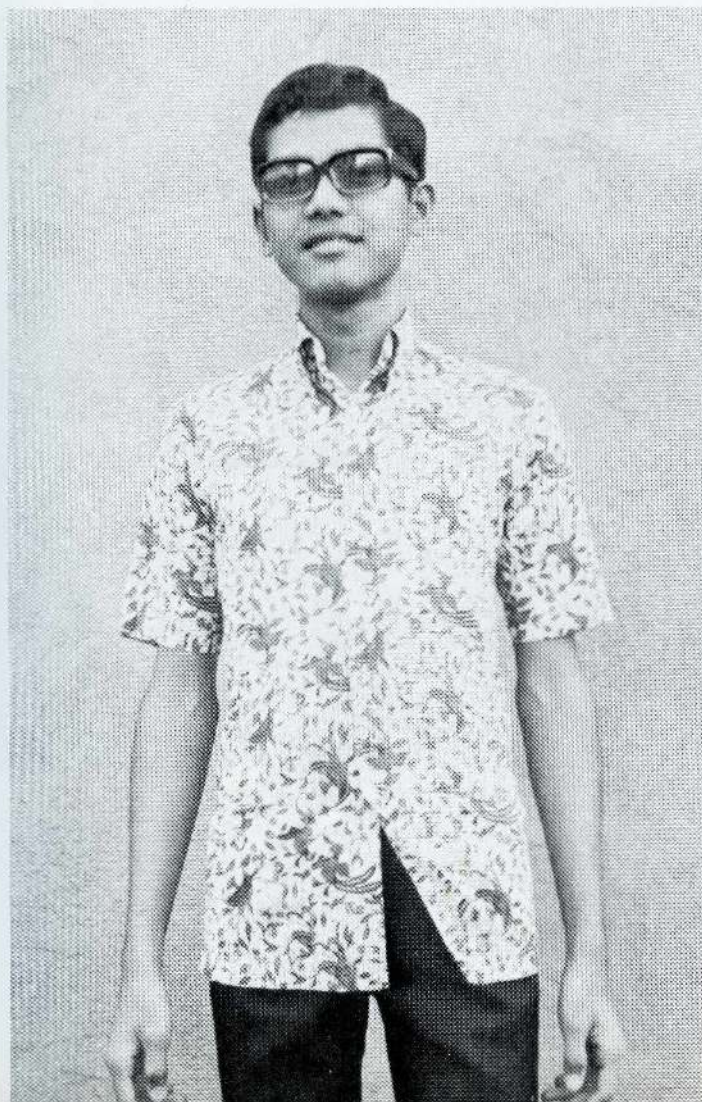

The American Field Service is a national organization devoted to promoting international understanding between the people of this country and the people of other countries. Under the guidance of Mr. Ravenscroft, the A.F.S. has been an important asset to our campus and our community. In addition to giving support to our local A.F.S. chapter, this responsible group of young people have sponsored our foreign exchange student for this year, Radman Bin Mohamed. They also sponsored the Twelfth Night party and the dance after the Hart and Canyon football game. Other activities for the year included a snow trip, a pancake breakfast, and excursions to various plays, concerts, and festivals. A.F.S. consists of about thirty members.

Radman Bin Mohamed, our foreign exchange student, came to us from Ipoh, Malasia, a country of Southeast Asia. He has done very well at Hart and enjoyed a few of our more thought provoking subjects, such as chemistry, math analysis, and speech. Radman represented Hart in a speech contest and received an excellent rating. He enjoyed a very successful senior year with us and commends us on our fine curriculum and teaching staff.

Sue Allen left New York on June 30, 1970 and traveled to Spain via London and Paris. She became a member of the Anton family in Santa Palo, a small fishing village on the Mediterranean coast. Sue was the ninth child in a family of six boys, two girls and approximately 110 relatives. Of her A.F.S. experience, Sue has this to say: "My three months in Spain have left me with many momentous experiences, and I certainly learned about the differences in people and in human behavior."

Starting again a new tradition, and one that is sure to last, was the 1971 Drill Team. This 24 member marching group performed their precision oriented routine to hordes of audiences in a feast of entertainment for all.

Starting in the early hours before school these girls bundled up to face the frost-covered football field in order to drill with the band. Whether it was before or after school, these girls continued successful exertion for the duration of an entertaining season.

Adding another prize-winning trophy to the collection, was the 1971 Precision Team. The unit of eight drill teamers united in winning competitions and adding pride to Hart High. Then with the arrival of the Yuletide season the nearby inhabitants viewed all those 24 ladies pounding the pavement of Newhall Avenue in preparation for setting the holiday mood in parades. The success of this outstanding unit is to be attributed to Mrs. Cheek for training this fine group of ladies who set the excitement mood.

Spirit Squad

Panoramic Pep

Like being in clubs with scads of prestige? Brass bands trumpeting your name? If so, Spirit Squad was not for you. Otherwise known as the Spirited Seven, the girls worked with loads of time, effort, and hard work to infect the student body and faculty with their abundant pep and spirit. There was seldom a day that one did not see them with their buckets, selling everything from pep buttons to shakers and candy.

Spirit Squad members were not the sole possessors of the Hart spirit though. Another group loaded with zip was this year's Girl's League.

Remember all those unique and original ties that were created by the members of the Girl's League and sported by the willing and brave male segment on Crazy Tie Day? Their traditional achievement of selecting the Girls of the Month concluded with the awarding of Girl of the Year at the 1971 Mother-Daughter Tea and Fashion Show presented by the members.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Always Ready to Serve Others

Along with the guys, the gals joined in by uniting Christian Fellowship with athletics. Aside from the annual Banquet, oriented to raising funds to send athletes to Christian camp, the members of FCA were given a chance to try their skills at flipping pancakes at the Pancake Breakfast. In addition to these civic-centered activities, guest speakers such as chaplains from different locations were invited to discuss issues, throughout the year.

Led by able president Chuck Cesena, with Dan Meenk, Chris Deatherige, and Greg Huntsinger as vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively, FCA was an active club at Hart.

California Scholarship Federation

Diligent Efforts With High Academic Achievement

The biannual collection of scholars begins as the formation of the California Scholarship Federation takes place after each semester. This brain trust exerts its diligent efforts in the hope of cultivating high academic achievement records. One aspect of this aim is the Seymour Foundation Scholarship in which each member contributes on his own behalf. The result of three semesters of honors is the gold tassel and seal displayed at graduation. Even though these are not symbols of the future we can be assured that the members of C.S.F. will become prominent members of our community. And they should be commended for setting leadership at Hart.

Foreign Language Club

They Had Mutual Interests, Different Languages

Newly formed this year to stimulate the interest in foreign affairs is none other than the Foreign Language Club. This organization assisted in bridging the foreign relations gap as it opened its doors to both Spanish and French students. In the hope of supplementing their cultural knowledge, various excursions were planned as a result of treasury building efforts on their part.

Mr. Lines, a new addition to the Spanish Department, courageously volunteered to sponsor the club. His enthusiasm proved to be infectious.

Ski Club

'Snow Power' Was Their Motto!

As ski reports from the surrounding mountains grew favorable, meetings of the Ski Club became more frequent. Members ranged from willing but fragile boned souls to year-round ski enthusiasts. Together they united under their common interest of gliding down snow covered slopes while concentrating on staying on top of skis.

Lettermen

Our Athletes Are Involved

All those big athletic campus men joined together as the Lettermen's Club. These accomplished sports-minded individuals cornered the Slave Market with all of those willing subjects. And so the auction began. Girls, guys, and teachers were allotted to the one highest bidder. Can you imagine purchasing a loyal servant for an entire day? But the Lettermen didn't stop here; they went on to combine every ounce of coordination and effort in the hope of succeeding over the faculty in the Annual Donkey Basketball Game. Here the true skills were revealed as the students and faculty went before the beast. Throughout the year our Lettermen stood strong.

Lettergirls

Our Girls Are With It Too

Lettergirls, the most accomplished members of G.A.A., were given the honor of wearing Hart's letter. Whether on campus or off these girls participated in such invigorating sports as tennis, basketball, baseball, football, bowling, ice skating, and camping. Hart's sporty gals bundled up and spent the night of December 31 on Colorado Blvd. in Pasadena. The following morning they watched the 82nd Annual Tournament of Roses Parade. Trying a new form of initiation the Lettergirls tested those girls' interests by making them do favors for each of the members. When the initiation was finished all the Lettergirls took in a movie for Initiates Night Out.

Electronics Club

Amateur Electricians—On Their Way to Success

Throughout the year the potential electricians made certain that each battery was wired effectively to enable them to creatively broadcast our KFSR radio programs. With the assistance of Mr. Hansen this transmitting sector of Hart High School was made possible.

Called in the line of service were always the Keyettes. Whether it was surprising teachers with an exciting breakfast, serving at a banquet, or decorating for T.B.A., these girls were frequently caught in the line of duty.

Girls' Athletic Association

Girls With Get-Up-And-Go!

Members of the Girls' Athletic Association proved that females can sparkle in the man's world of sports. The girls' perfection of skills ranged from intercepting a pass, sinking a basket, hitting a bullseye, bowling a perfect game, to making a hole in one. The dominant purpose of this club was not only to develop their techniques in competitive activities but also to acquire the knowledge of sportsmanship through daily after-school sports and activities.

MOODS

A Day and a Year in Academics

Academics Editor
Andrea Gillespie

Students Discover Unique Hypotheses

A wide variety of courses were offered by the math and science departments in the 1970-71 school year. The interesting selections of mathematic classes were sr. math, algebra, math analysis, trigonometry, and geometry. As the students ventured into their math classes some found themselves comparing polygons; others found themselves proving mathematical equations, and still others found themselves deeply involved in right triangles. The science courses consisted of physics, sr. science, chemistry and biology. The science students made silver, collected insects, dissected animals, experimented with heat and electricity, and studied natural laws of the universe.

English and History

Intriguing Studies of Prose and Poetry Past and Present

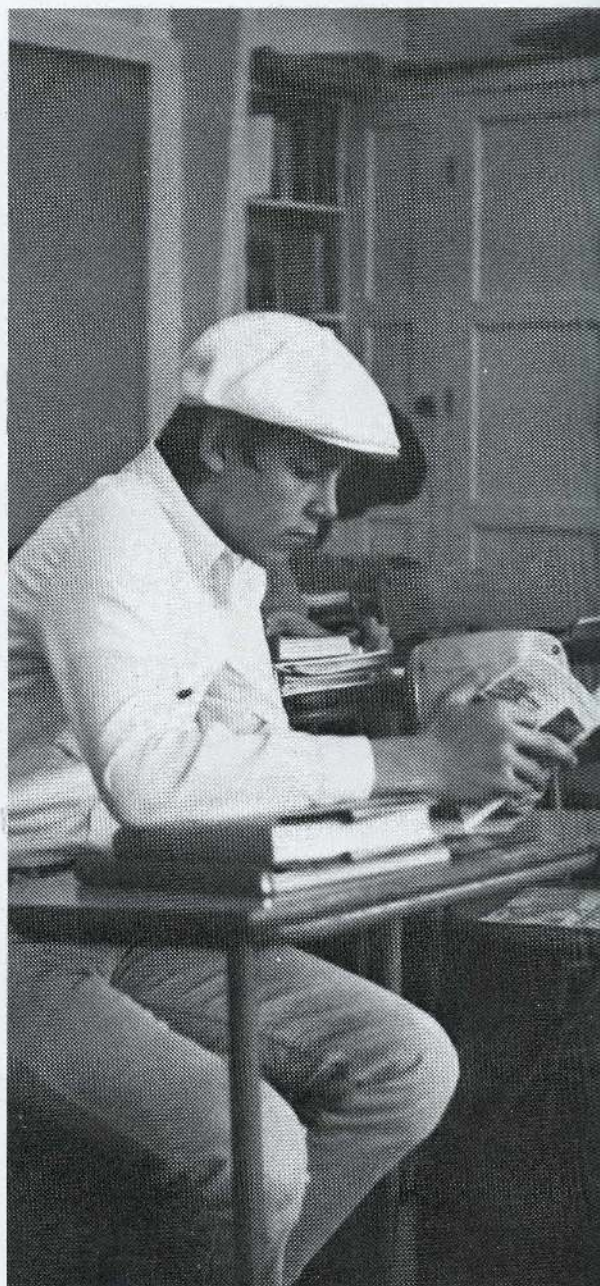

In an age where being able to get an idea across is vital to success, the knowledge of grammar, literature, writing, and speech becomes a necessity. From Shakespeare to science fiction, the English department at Hart was able to offer a wider selection than ever before in our's school history.

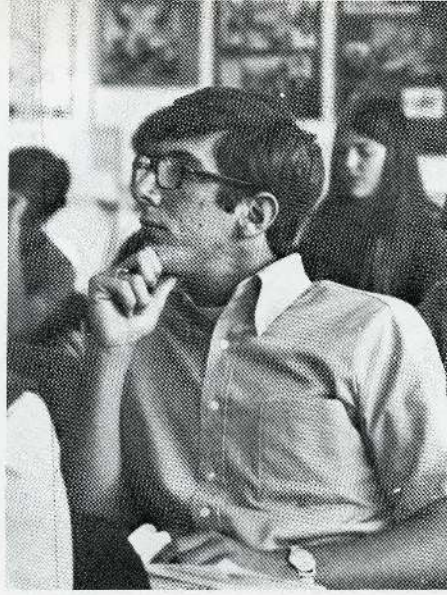

With the teachings of the past, the students of social sciences were able to learn how to get at the root of understanding current world affairs. History courses covered all areas of Man's heritage. From the landing of the Pilgrims to Man's walk on the lunar surface, courses such as emerging nations, government, modern European, California, and U.S. history laid the basis for the appreciation of our ancestors and for the awareness of today's and of the future generation's potential.

Home Economics and Industrial Arts

Make It or Break It

If you happened to walk by the industrial art classes this year you might have seen the students involved in some unusual but interesting activities. The graphic art students silk screened and sculptured while the students of drafting drew layouts of tomorrow. There were also many students enrolled in auto, that practical class which provided Hart High with an awful lot of greasy and grimy mechanics.

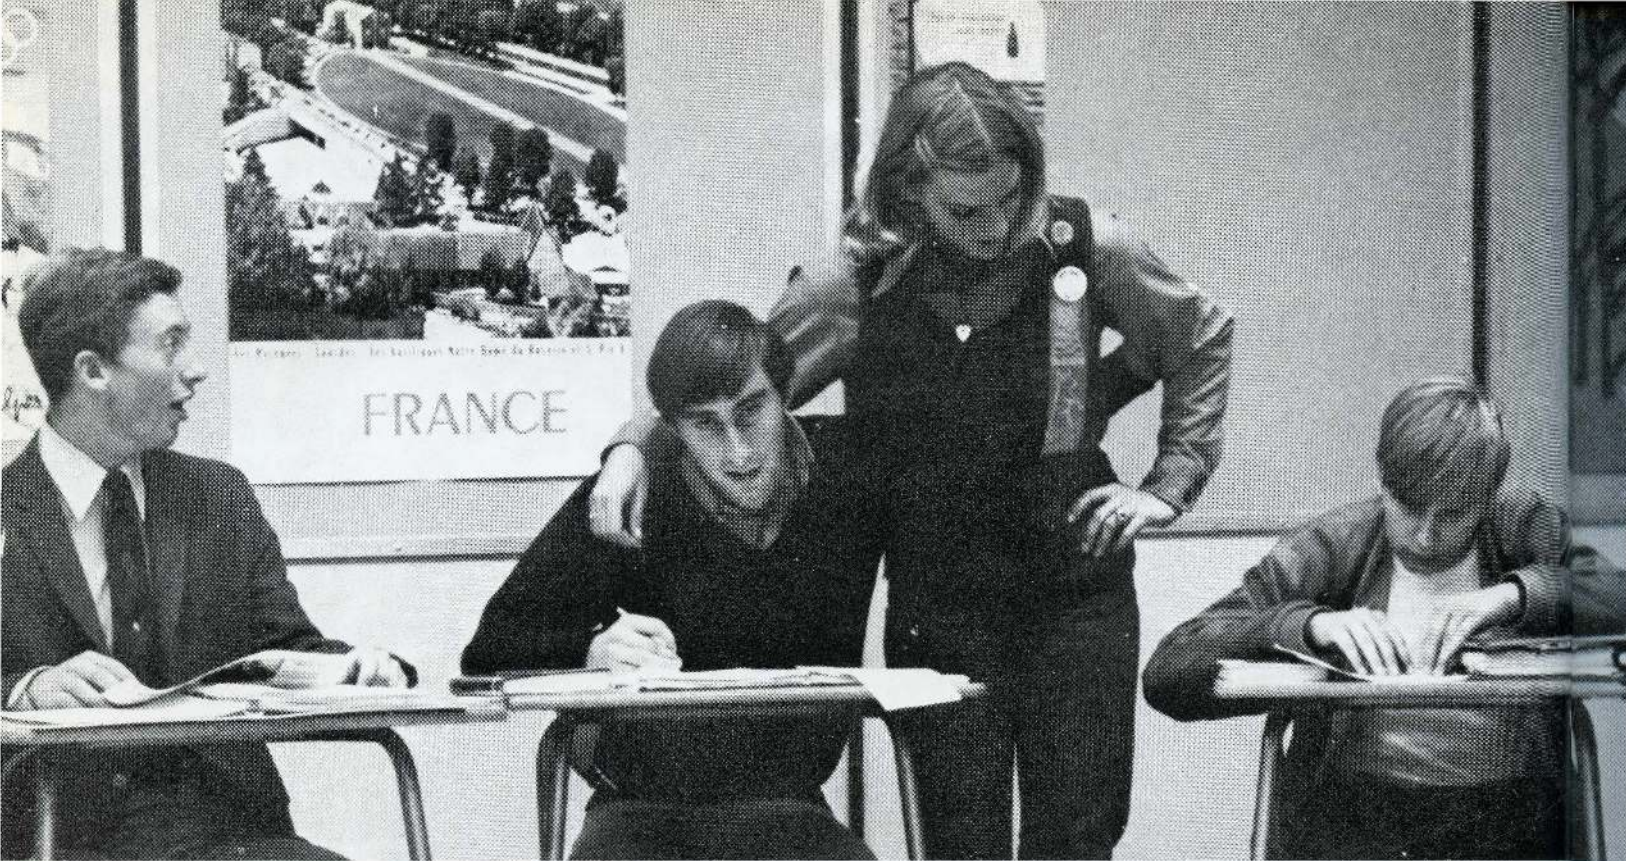

On the other side of the campus the floury females were involved in similar experiences. But due to the variety of cookery the aroma on the female side was much more attractive. The home economics department provided both girls and boys with other classes such as home management, child care, and sr. family living. The activities ranged from controlling the expenditures of a family to changing diapers.

Foreign Language and Business

Precision Through Skills

As the year progressed, the foreign language and business students broadened the scope of their grasp of communication and better understanding. Business courses ranged from Typing to Business Law and included a varied selection to fully prepare students for the world after graduation. After a little practice and effort they were transcribing and translating with confidence that could only be the result of corrected mistakes. Some students explored the subtle differences of French and Spanish societies. By delving deep into the cultures of other lands they learned not only of a new language but also of a new style of life outside their own environments.

Physical Education

Sportsmanship Through Teamwork

Together the boys' and girls' physical education classes demonstrated their ability to exert themselves in the field of physical fitness. While the boys tackled and tromped over each other in football the girls displayed the gentler version in powder-puff. While some girls were rolling and tumbling in gymnastics, others were dancing in a very modern way. Meanwhile the boys were racing to the finish line.

They were all able to demonstrate their ability to cooperate in team activities. Also they were able to show their individualism in other areas. Because of such experiences as striking out with bases loaded in the last inning, to making that winning touchdown, they were able to coordinate and develop their mental capacities along with the toning of their physical bodies.

Music and Art

Expression Through the Arts

Throughout the school year our outstanding music department was able to keep the campus moving to the sound of music. Few would have believed that among the squeaks and shrills that flowed from the music department came some outstanding illustrations of musical capability. Both the vocal and instrumental sections have demonstrated exceptional talent. Through long enduring sessions of making absolutely sure that every note was on key, these active individuals in choir, band, and orchestra realized that it was a truly worthwhile class, and everyone benefited from it.

As in music, the subject of art gives one a chance to develop his creativity.

What else could be more creative than that masterpiece that was at first only a rusty can? The student is able to put a little of himself into each creation. From scenic paintings of papier-mache projects, each was unique.

In the field of fine art, the drama department exerted itself to its fullest potentials. The drama students kept everyone entertained and at the same time revealed their true inner-emotions. Their accomplishments ranged from pep rally skits to full Oscar-winning performances. Could it be possible that some future academy award winners were given their first chance on the stage of Hart High? Only time and opportunity will tell.

Administration

Kind but Firm

One of the most important elements in a successful and organized school is an understanding administration. In the three years that Mr. Fickenscher has been Principal at Hart, he has tried to unite the students with the faculty, and with the help of Mr. Sproul, Vice-Principal, has reached his goal. Counselors Mr. Thon, Mr. Alger, and Mrs. Rea, with the help of Head Counselor and Dean of Girls, Mrs. Searby, help students with plans for high school and college. Mr. Bathgate, Dean of Boys, helps boys solve day-to-day problems of life at Hart, just as Mrs. Searby accomplishes with girls.

Faculty

Superior Teaching Through Dedication and Determination

Buried beneath the mountain of notices, bulletins, uncorrected papers and general bookkeeping the teachers still find time to teach. Although at times they become so frustrated and angry with the students they are ready to give up, the satisfaction of seeing a student comprehend an idea or formula is all that is needed to renew the teacher's faith in the teaching process. The teachers as a whole all agree that it is a very rewarding occupation.

Services

Efficiency Makes Their World Go Round

The clerical staff was a vital part of Hart High. This friendly staff performed countless duties this year to assist the faculty and students.

Our dependable and dedicated cafeteria staff provided students and faculty with hot nutritious food each day.

With smiling faces and open doors, our bus drivers greeted Hart students every morning and every afternoon.

Whenever their services were needed, our dependable custodians could always be counted on to do the job.

We sincerely thank these workers.

Wm. S. Hart High School District Board

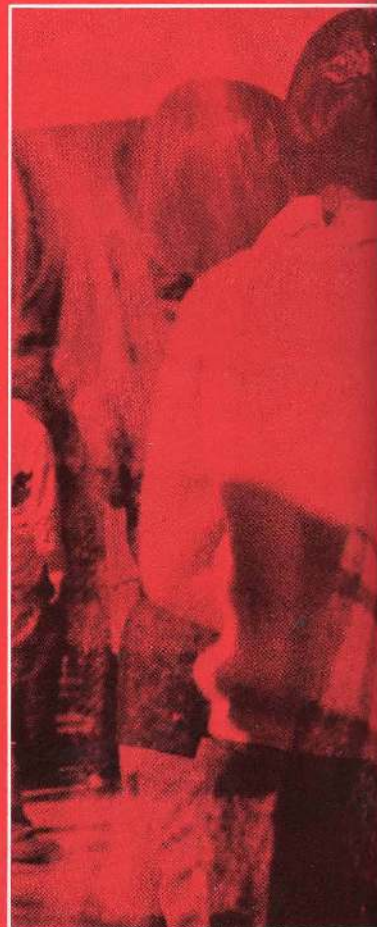

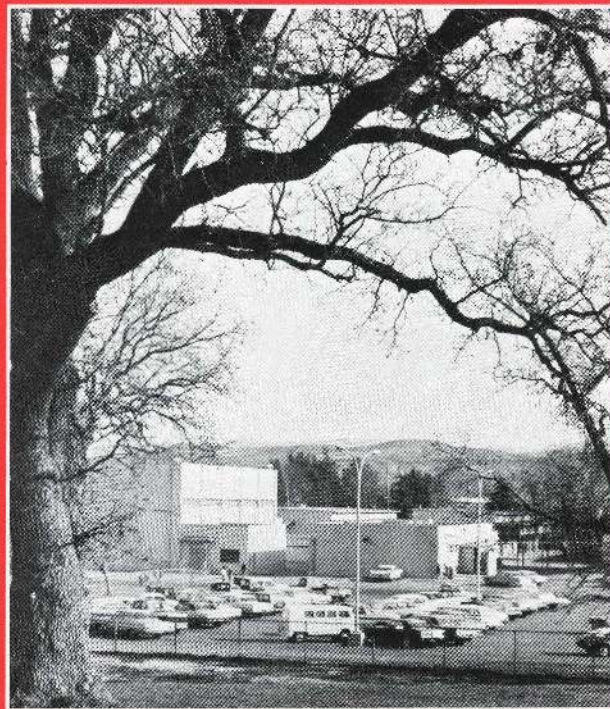

Strong in Leadership Yet Sensitive to our Needs

Communication with the public! Our Board this year had this worthy aim. Our two new board members, Mr. Thomas Hanson and Dr. Carroll Word made some visits to the student bodies to get acquainted with student opinions. At Board meetings, the public was given time to pose questions and air their grievances or to point out problems in district policy.

Awards

Seniors Cream of the Crop!

Each year the Bank of America awards eleven outstanding seniors in specific fields, and plaques to four seniors in the general fields of science and math, liberal arts, and vocational arts. Criteria for awards winners included scholarship, character and personality, sense of responsibility, leadership and regard for others.

Scholars continued to be discovered as the 1970-71 National Merit Scholarship Program named three Hart seniors as semi-finalists. Sue Allen, Steve Anderson, and Cyndy Bryck were nominated for their high scoring on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Because of their achievements, these students graduate looking to the future.

Juniors

For Them it Was Die or Do or 72 Skidoo

The juniors were a busy class. They sold a huge number of pep ribbons to promote spirit for the football games; a stupendous Halloween dance was another Class of '72 project. At the pep rallies their loud and very spirited participation often won for them the I.C.C. banner. Numbering foremost among their many projects was the Junior-Senior Prom. This was one of the most important events of the year and its great success was a fitting tribute to this vigorous class.

Juniors Look Ahead to Senior Year

As the doors close on their junior year, these underclassmen may look back with pride on the 70-71 school year. They have achieved countless goals during their stay at Hart and now look forward anxiously to their role as the privileged and superior senior classmen of Wm. S. Hart High School.

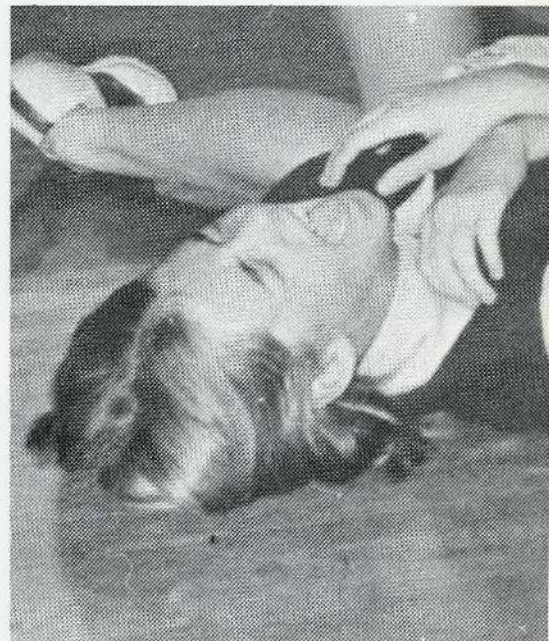

As the summer passes these students will look back on the good times they had at Hart games, pep rallies, and in class. They constantly sparked the mood with their fierce spirit of class competition. They were great Juniors and will be even better as Seniors.

Concentrating on Their Futures

Sophomores encounter every mood ever known to man. The first few weeks in High School are traumatic, what with new teaching methods, mountains of homework and hordes of students. Alternating between apathy, fear, and despair, these students have finally crossed the finish line with flying colors. They followed the lead of the juniors and seniors and have been participating in all the excitement and action on campus; everything from food drives, to the 1970 homecoming. Being a sophomore is a difficult job and subjects one to all kinds of trials and tribulations. The sophomores survived every test put before them and will continue to do so as juniors.

The Confusion Comes to an End

As the year closes, the sophomores have a better idea of what being a high school student is all about. They have learned countless things in every area of school life and have also had many humorous moments of confusion to be remembered. The period of bewilderment is hopefully ended, and they can pass on to their junior year with the new understanding and hope that every student receives from the Hart High Faculty through the year.

Upper Right: Basketball provides an exciting pastime for the boys in P.E. Middle: Jeffrey Hughes points out the fundamentals of learning to Eloise Whitaker at bunch.

Every school year is packed with all sorts of activities and excitement. A ball game, a track meet, a dance, and even brunch mean different things to everyone. The moods and emotions that each person is subjected to are the substances that comprise a good or bad school year. The 1971 year was one of the best. Contemplation, Happiness, and Excitement were all included, from Hello Week right up to graduation.

Sophomores had their first encounter with high school and were happy to move up from the low men on the totem pole. Excitement took root in the majority of the Junior class when the realization set in that they would finally be the upperclassmen. The Seniors ran the complete gamut of emotions. They were sad to leave Hart but exultant because their high school years had come to an end at last.

MOODS

A Day and an End of a Year at . . . Hart

It Was a Year of Excitement and Enjoyment

This year the Tomabawk staff believed they produced an excellent yearbook in the memory book tradition. The Tomabawk has been virtually unchanged for two decades, with its routine layouts and undistinguished copy. This year perfection was our motto; every little detail, no matter how insignificant, was examined then reexamined until it seemed as though we were making our own modern version of The Agony and The Ecstasy. Every second, every minute, every hour, of every day was worth being able to produce a book that would please all the students of Hart. The creation of a work of art takes many hands, but always out of many there are an outstanding few, and these few are; Kathy Borrelli, Andrea Gillespie, Debbie Jones, Shilrey Myers, and an extreme and special thanks to Mr. Jay Franklin.

Sincerely,
So Hate,
Being a sophomore was great. I wonder what junior would be like. When you don't have anything to do during the summer, just recall all the great and stupid things
we've done. Always smile
'cause you'll never be
"pangit" like our Miss High Society. I'll do the best I can to get you in Drill Team. Hope you'll like our uniforms. Don't ever forget that you have a friend that looks exactly like Sophia Loren.
Love,
Raganilla

Kate,
you're one of those whizzes in Biology and Geometry, only I
well anyway next year
I hope will be as successful
Cheryl Tinley

Dear Kate,
I hope you have a nice summer because I think you're a nice girl—try to stay that way! Now that we've struggled through Geometry maybe we can relax
Steve

Kate,
I hope that you really do well and hope you'll be a great person
and I hope you will be a great person
and I hope you will be a great person

Kate,
I'm sure
in his hand
hope to see you of next year in my classes. See you next Sept. is not sooner.
Love,
Margaret
